STUDENT ARTICLE

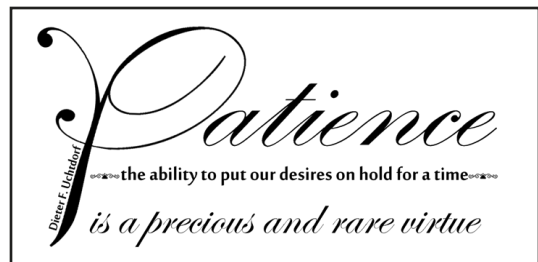

It was a Wednesday afternoon and I had a cold. I asked my parents if I could stay home from school the next day, not knowing I wouldn't come back to school again. Honestly, the pandemic felt like a shock. One day I was just chilling at school and the next I had to do everything online. It felt really weird because the coronavirus that we heard about in January from China, felt so far away and distant. I heard so many jokes about it I thought it was going to be like any event or meme that just faded away after a week.

Getting used to quarantine was weird, and I'm sure it has been for everybody. At the beginning, I remember complaining a lot about what I'll be missing and hoping that the quarantine wouldn't last too long. The school play, then Prom and my proper graduation ceremony. I was so negative about it, but then I realized that I had so much to be grateful for. My parents didn't get laid off like a million Americans did. I had food and shelter, and all I could want at home. I was lucky to have the minor inconvenience of being bored, and for this I will always be thankful for my parents.

Low key though, the pandemic kind of made a lot of things easier for me. Online school was a lot easier than regular school. It was just homework without the 8 hours of classes. This and the fact I finished my Senior year in April, has given me a lot of time to figure out what I am doing after. I am going to Kettering University in Flint, Michigan next year. Initially, I wanted to venture out even farther from home and explore another part of the world, but the world is pretty closed down right now, and Kettering's Co-op program was something I couldn't pass up. I have also been applying for scholarships and doing other miscellaneous things, such as helping my dad market his painting business. Mostly, I have been waiting patiently like everyone. Whether it be watching TV, waiting for things to open up, or waiting for my mom to finish disinfecting the groceries, I have been living the words 'patience is a virtue'.

Now that we've reached summer and things have started to open up, I have been slowly going out of my house, and seeing my friends again in a safe covid manner. I am becoming hopeful that things are going to get better soon. I know lots of things have happened since the pandemic started. The year 2020 has been crazy, but I think that our country and society is going to have a change for the better.

As a family, I encourage you to look up the lives of these heroic men and women of the faith and share their stories with your children. They are sure to inspire each of us, no matter our age, to live our lives for Christ and His Kingdom, and help others do the same!

PASTOR'S CORNER

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ, We are still living under the impact of the Coronavirus. Our community, our Church, our society, our country and our entire world have all been affected and challenged. However, as Christians, we are called to continue to work together to build a better society, spreading the good news of Salvation through Our Lord Jesus Christ, while planting the seeds of Faith, Hope and Love. These are difficult and unprecedented times for all of us, but now more than ever, we must hold fast to the great virtue of Hope. I continue to pray to the Lord to lift the burden of this pandemic from the earth and heal our infirmities. Our Masses and services have been open to the public. We are taking all measures to assure your safety from deep cleaning to sanitizing and following all guidelines requested by our Church and government.

AS WE REMEMBER THOSE LOST...

As we slowly start to transition out of quarantine and begin to resume our normal routines, to the extent possible, we don't want to forget all our loved ones that were lost during this pandemic. It has been a tough time for the community, especially when we were not able to come together in person to pray for those lost.

As the Church is now reopened for public Masses, we encourage you to call the Parish Office and schedule a Liturgy to celebrate your loved one. If there is anything that we can do to support you with this, please know that the Chorbishop Alfred and Deacon Mike are always ready and available for you. Please contact the Parish Office to call upon us at any time.

Many other things are taking place in our parish. Please continue to check the online weekly bulletin posted on our website, and the announcements and notices that are emailed to you and posted on our social media sites.

Yours in Christ, Chorbishop Alfred Badawi Pastor
